I currently teach up to Advanced Level and I am an examiner for both GCSE, AS and A2 Geography. I am currently the Head of Humanities Faculty at Derby Grammar School and oversee the strategic direction of Geography, History, Philosophy & Ethics as well as Economics. As an outstanding classroom practitioner, I am fully aware of the different learning and teaching styles and give full consideration towards how pupils learn and how am I going to teach them. It is not what pupils learn, but how the message is conveyed in the classroom. As Benjamin Franklin states, "Tell me and I forget, teach me and I remember!" My interests in teaching centre around providing high quality, high impact learning experiences for pupils as well as employing ICT technologies in lessons. I am a keen believer in bringing my subject 'alive' through the use of fieldwork visits to locations such as Iceland, North Yorkshire and London. I am proud to serve as a Foundation Governor at Blessed Robert Sutton Catholic Sports College. As a former pupil of the school it has always been a personal ambition of mine to put something back into the school that inspired me to become a teacher as well as instilling the belief of 'life-long learning'. I serve on the Scrutiny and Performance Committee and I am Link Governor for Performing Arts.

I have no financial or business interests that would affect my role as a Governor.
